GIRL DOOMED TO GALLOWS.

Sentenced for Killing the Director of the Czar's Prisons.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 31.—Mlle. Ragozinnikova, who shot and killed General Maimoffsky, director of the department of prisons of the ministry of the interior, was taken to the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul Tuesday, tried by courtmartial and sentenced to be executed by hanging.

It was reported that the police had discovered another plot against the life of Emperor Nicholas and a high official was said to have been arrested in this connection.

The police officials of St. Petersburg, however, profess to know nothing of the matter and intimate that the rumors probably were due to the large number of arrests and searches in connection with the assassination of General Maximoffsky, which had resulted in the capture of several accomplices of Mlle. Ragozinnikova.

Honolulu, Oct. 31—Hawaii's sugar crop for 1907 is the largest in the history of the islands. It amounts to 420,000 tons. Next crop promises to reach 575,000 tons. This large increase is due to the extension of acreage and irrigation.

GEORGIA MASONS.

More Than 1,000 Hear Annual Address of Grand Master.

Macon, Ga., Oct. 31.—More than one thousand Georgia Masons heard the annual address of Grand Master Max Meyerhardt, of Rome, in the city auditorium here Tuesday morning.

The body was called to order promptly at 10 o'clock, and the feature of the annual address proved the matter of interest for the day. Praise for the order was sounded by the head of the Georgia lodge, and with each announcement of the rapid strides Masons have made in this state there was healthy applause.

Touching tributes were paid Judge John W. Aiken and former Grand Master W. A. Davis, who have died since the last meeting. The lives of the two distinguished dead members were held up as exemplary and their devotion to the order was referred to with tenderness and feeling that touched all hearers.

At the sessions of the grand lodge Tuesday it developed that the special committee entrusted with the duty of determining upon the course to be followed with reference to the securing of larger quarters for the Georgia grand lodge of Georgia Masons had decided to recomend the construction of entirely new quarters. This will mean the purchase of a new site and the erection of a building to cost between $75,000 and $100,000.

According to the grand master, in his annual address there is now $56,000 in the treasury and after all accounts have been met at the present session there will be at least $40,000 left.

SOUTH FINANCIALLY SAFE.

Southern Crops Will Bring Millions in Gold.

New Orleans, Oct. 31.—That the south is financially safe and in a position to benefit greatly the other portions of the United States was the opinion expressed Tuesday by New Orleans bankers and business men. The immense exports of cotton and also sugar and rice are relied on shortly to bring in gold from abroad.

An index of the south's prosperity was the amount of shipping at this port Tuesday. There were fifty seagoing vessels in the harbor and in addition, scores of river craft piled high with sugar, molasses, cotton and rice. The harbor activity was all the more significant because it followed on the heels of a months strike of 10,000 levee men.

Partly as a guarantee of the unhampered movement of the crop staples, speculative activity involving any unnecessary risks in other lines of business was suspended in New Orleans, both local stock exchanges closing until Monday. The cotton exchange continued open.

Reports came in from rural districts in Mississippi, Alabama, Arkansas and Tennessee that small banks have followed the lead of the cities and have taken united action to protect depositors from loss of money or confidence.

CONDITIONS NORMAL

Financial Situation In New York Seems now Well In Hand.

STORM IS NOW WEATHERED

Bankers Say Clearing House Certificate Plan Is Working Out Smoothly and Is Clearing Up the Financial Skies.

New York, Oct. 31.—Banking conditions approached the normal in this city Wednesday. The situation is now so well in hand that further conferences of bankers are not anticipated.

Runs on one or two institutions may be said to be over and Wall street has expressed gratification that the storm has been weathered.

The banks improved their position on Tuesday by calling loans, and this process of adjustment may be continued. Liquidation of this character is well absorbed considering the fact that many stock exchange houses are discouraging new commitments on a margin basis and are making purchases only for cash.

Bankers declare that the clearing house certificate plan is working out smoothly and is rapidly bringing about normal conditions.

DEPOSITORS ON NOTICE BASIS.

Action Taken by Savings Banks of San Francisco.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 31—Acting on the advice of the clearing house association the savings banks of San Francisco have decided to place their depositors on "a notice basis." They will not pay out funds unless a notice has been given ranging from ten to ninety days, according to the sums to be withdrawn. Notice of ten days will be required on sums from $100 to $1,000, and more time if the amounts be greater.

It was stated that this step was taken not because of immediate necessity, but to provide a precautionary measure and to act in accordance with the clearing house representatives.

The savings banks are not members of the clearing house association.

Every savings bank of this city was reported to be in excellent condition.

SACRIFICED HIS LIFE.

Railroad Employee Saves Lives at Expense of His Own.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 31.—Michael Mason, a middle-aged man, employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad company at the Union Station, this city, sacrificed his own life in saving three other persons from what seemed inevitable death.

A man, woman and child reached the station on the Greenburg express and becoming confused in passing through the train sheds, got upon the tracks in front of a moving train.

Mason leaped to their side, and with a vigorous push hurled them from the tracks to the platform at the side, but before he could himself reach that platform the train was upon him and he was crushed to death.

The rescued passengers escaped in the crowd before their names were ascertained.

$50,000 Fire at Decatur, Ala.

Decatur, Ala., Oct. 31—The N. B. Hall & Sons' basket factory, including buildings, machinery and a large amount of material, was totally destroyed by fire Tuesday night. Three small cottages were also destroyed. The cause of the fire is unknown. The total loss will be from $50,000 partially insured. The fire burned so rapidly that the fire companies were unable to save any of the buildings.

Reflected on Stock Exchange.

London, Oct. 31.—The American demands for gold and the talk of a monetary strain in Berlin were reflected on the Stock exchange Wednesday, where prices in all braches were heavy. Consols were affected by sales due to the monetary uncertainty, and yielded another one-eighth of a point.

HANGED HIMSELF ON TRANSOM.

Huntsville Man Takes His Life at Memphis, Tenn.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 31.—Failing to end his life by severing the artery in his wrist with a razor, J. E. McLaughlin twisted strips of a sheet together and hanged himself from the transome in a room Tuesday at the house of Lucile Agner, where he had been living since coming here from his old home in Huntsville, Ala. Despondency is supposed to have been the cause.

McLaughlin had been dead an hour when found. His toes reached just to the floor but not sufficiently to prevent strangulation. Before this he had used a razor, cutting a gash in his left wrist, but this was not serious.

McLaughlin had been heard to threaten to take his life upon several occasions. He had been living on charity of his landlady for some time, it tis said. A check for $4 was found on him and also the address of Miss Mollie McGee, Huntsville. She is thought to be a relative.

McLaughlin had been jealous of a woman here named Nellie Wilson, and two weeks ago bought a revolver threatening to shoot her, but it was taken away from him. He had quarreled with the woman frequently and it is thought this might have influenced him to the desperate deed.

BIG PLANTATION SOLD.

Embraces 11,000 Acres—Price Paid Was $200,000, It Is Said.

Americus, Ga., Oct. 31.—The Huguenin plantation, near Americus, and perhaps the largest farm in Georgia, embracing 11,000 acres, is reported sold to Messrs. Morrison and Ferr, capitalists of Gainesville, Ga.

The sale includes live stock, plantation machinery, corn and cotton seed, and the price paid is approximately $200,000.

The Huguenin plantation was the property of Mrs. Martha Johnston, of Macon, and was formerly owned by Captain Marsh Johnston. It was settled seventy years ago by J. Cowart, a pioneer in Sumter, and is the most magnificent estate in southwestern Georgia.

Upon the plantation are several thousand acres of the finest pine timber in the southern states which alone is worth half the price of the princely fortune paid for the farm.

MINISTERS WANT MORE PAY.

It Is Said Many Cannot Make Ends Meet on What They Get.

New York, Oct. 31.—There is a movement on foot in the Methodist district conference at Kingston, N. Y., to obtain larger salaries for ministers in view of the increased cost of living. In spite of strictest economy the pastors of many country charges, it is said, cannot meet expenses or properly care for their families. The Rev. F. D. Adams has prepared statistics showing that it is impossible for the average clergyman to make both ends meet. He cites many instances where preachers have left their calling recently to go into life insurance, real estate and other business.

Presiding Elder Frank M. Wilson, of Kingston, in a recent address, said he was willing to eat corn dodgers when his congregation was face to face with that condition, but not when the members were banking large sums of money and the minister was in an impoverished condition.

Panic on a Street Car.

Washington, Oct. 31.—Four firemen were injured, none of them seriously, in a collision between Truck No. 2 of the district fire department and a Fourteenth street car at Rhode Island avenue and Fourteenth street northwest, late Monday night. The passengers on the car, a theater crowd were thrown into a panic. The women screamed and fought to get out. None of the passengers was injured.

Columbus Bank Prosperous.

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 31.—A special to the Journal from Columbus, Ga., says that Columbus banks show an increase of $100,000 over same time last year in deposits. Leading bankers say New York's flurry has had no effect there.

MURDER OR SUICIDE?

Mystery Surrounds Death of a Prominent Insurance Man.

BODY FWAS OUND IN HOTEL

Herman Potter, Jr., Left His Home In Doylestown, Pa., a Week Ago Where News of His Death Was a Shock to Family.

New York, Oct. 31.—[illegible] which is to be held [illegible] clear up much of the mystery surrounding the death of Herman Potter, Jr., a prominent insurance agent of Doylestown, Pa., whose body was found late Tuesday in his room at the Waldorf.

Wounds on the head, including a fracture of the skull, declined Coroner Harburger to say that the man was murdered.

A letter left by Potter for his wife, written in a firm hand and apparently without nervousness or haste, seems to show that the writer had completed certain statements in the case before the finding of a small bottle which contained the remnants of poison enabled the police to express the opinion that possibly Potter had committed suicide.

In the letter Potter bids his wife and children goodby and tells them where to find certain documents relating to his business which were on his desk at home. He also tells of an attack on him by three thugs on Saturday night, two of whom he knocked down, but the third, he says, managed to sandbag him and render him unconscious and while in that condition he was robbed.

Remained Close in Room.

After the assault Potter says he was arrested for intoxication, but was discharged in the night court. He made no report of the attack and robbery at the time, nor did he say anything about it at the hotel. Since his return to the Waldorf late Saturday night he is said to have remained closely in his rooms, sending out for lunches and drinks occasionally. He made no complaint of his wounds and apparently did not realize their seriousness. The police think it strange that Potter should have written the letter before arranging his affairs and bidding his family goodby unless he had suicide in mind.

Boylestown, Pa., Oct. [illegible] Bradley Potter, Jr., who was found dead in New York Thursday, left here on a prosperous business trip to that place. His home at Mattage avenues was one of the finest in town. With his wife and children he had lived there for [illegible] years. Not having had any word from him for [illegible] she had become almost prostrated with grief and anxiety. He left here about two weeks ago [illegible] went on a short trip to New York by which he hoped to combine business and recuperation. A letter announced that he was in New York for a few days. BETTIE ROBERSON MET AWFUL DEATH

Burnt to a Crisp Without Anyone Around to Assist Her.

BODY WAS BADLY CHARRED

Brother and Children Were in Field at Work, and When One Child Came to Dinner Discovered Woman in Yard—Stocking Was Still Smoking.

Information has just been received here of the horrible death of Bettie Roberson, colored, fifty-five years of age, which occurred at the home of her brother, Charles Simmons, near Gordon, where she has been making her home for the past few years. The death was caused by the woman's clothing becoming ignited, and her body was burned to a crisp before aid had ever reached her.

The woman, who was a widow with several children, was living with her brother, Charles Simmons, a progressive colored farmer of that section. As is the custom, Simmons, with his children and the children of the victim, ate breakfast and went to the field to work, leaving the woman to attend to the household duties. When one of the children left the field to go to dinner he discovered the woman laying in the yard burned to a crisp, one of her stockings still smoking.

No particulars of this awful incident could be learned, as there was no one present when it occurred. The woman, however, was subject to epileptic fits, and it is supposed that in some way her clothing became ignited, when she ran into the yard, became excited, and fell into a fit before she could cry for assistance.

The body was terribly charred, but the coroner did not deem it necessary to hold an inquest after the particulars had been learned.

The unfortunate woman was buried Wednesday afternoon.

FOOTBALL TUESDAY.

University Boys Are Practicing for Game With Rollins.

Notwithstanding that the University football team is already in excellent trim Coach Forsyth has his men out regularly on practice every day, in anticipation of the game with Rollins College, which will be pulled off on the local field next Tuesday afternoon, the 5th inst.

This will be the State championship game, and for that reason, especially, is there a great deal of interest being manifested. It will be a game of skill, as both teams are in the pink of condition, and both feel confident of winning.

The game will be called at 3 o'clock at the baseball park, and it is expected that a large crowd will be present, as everyone is deeply interested in the event.

TRAINED NURSE

Writes a Letter to the People.

"To Whom It May Concern: I am a trained nurse of nine years' experience in hospital and private cases, and for the benefit of the people of Gainesville I wish you would publish my experience with the cod liver preparation, Vinol.

"I was completely prostrated from overwork. I had no appetite, could not sleep, my kidneys, liver and bowels became inactive, and as I grew weaker I could not retain either medicine or food on my stomach, and raised blood. The doctors said my condition was critical and I would probably die.

"As I had seen Vinol prescribed for my patients with such remarkable results, I decided to try it. After the first bottle I began to improve. I continued its use, and soon began to sleep and eat well; every organ in my body was strengthened and became normal, until it seemed good to be alive and I was restored to perfect health and strength.

"I advise all my patients who need strength, rich, red blood, and flesh tissue to take Vinol, as it is so far superior to old fashioned cod liver oil, emulsions, or other tonics."—Elizabeth M. Cremond, Trained Nurse, Boston, Mass.

In Gainesville we sell Vinol on a positive guarantee to return money if it fails. W. M. Johnson, Druggist.

MATT PAYS THE FIDDLER.

Man Alleged to Have Shot at Another Must Stand Consequences.

Matt Milliner, the negro whom it is alleged shot at another man on West Church street Monday night, mention of which appeared in The Sun, and who afterward escaped and made his way to Newberry, where he was arrested and brought back to Gainesville to answer to a charge of discharging firearms in the city limits, was on Tuesday morning fined $25 and costs.

The defendant gave bond and appealed the case, through his attorney, Evans Haile, but no sooner had he been released than he was rearrested by the county authorities and arraigned before Justice Colman upon a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

Milliner waived examination and gave bond for his appearance Tuesday, when the case will be heard.

CHUBB TO WASHINGTON.

Is Commoned Suddenly to Washington on Important Matter.

Hon. Henry S. Chubb, register of the United States land office and chairman of the Florida Republican State Central Committee, was called suddenly to Washington yesterday and may be absent for several days. Col. Chubb was good-naturedly reluctant to talk about this summons, but those in close touch with him presume authentically that he has been called on important political matters. Personally he is very close to President Roosevelt, and it is intimated that his trip is of considerable importance affecting the political situation in Florida at this time. There are some important appointments to be made at an early date, including the postmastership of the city of St. Augustine.

AS OTHERS THINK

Everyone in Gainesville Has a Right to His Own Opinion.

While everyone has a right to his own opinion, yet it is wise to always consider what others think and profit by their experience.

Nothing makes life more miserable or interferes so widely with the usefulness of the average American as indigestion and it is well for us to give due consideration to what others think about this remarkable affliction.

J. W. McCollum & Co. are positive that in Mi-o-na stomach tablets they have an absolute cure for indigestion and the many disagreeable symptoms that follow this disease, such as distress after eating, coated tongue, bad taste in the mouth, dizziness, flatulence, nervousness and debility.

Their action in selling Mi-o-na on a guarantee to refund the money unless it cures, shows plainly their belief in the value of this remedy. They take all the risk, and there will be no charge whatever for Mi-o-na unless you are satisfied that it has relieved you of indigestion.

NEWS OF CITY AND COUNTY CONDENSED

H. A. Ford has returned from Chicago, where he has been on business for the past few days.

Superintendent A. O. McArthur of the Atlantic Coast Line has returned from an official visit to Jacksonville.

C. A. Beckham, a prominent citizen of Windsor, was in the city yesterday on business connected with the county tax collector's office.

Conductor Arthur W. Boring, Mrs. Joseph Boring and Mrs. Edward Smith of Waldo were in the city yesterday, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. P. Morris.

Mrs. Joseph Tinsley left yesterday for Lakeland, where her husband will make his headquarters for the next few weeks. Mr. Tinsley is representing a New York commission firm.

Captain A. Paul, special agent of the general United States land office, has returned from a month's official visit to points in Lafayette county, where he has been looking after the Government's interest.

Friends of J. R. Merchant, business manager of The Sun, were glad to see him at his desk again yesterday, after three weeks' suffering from the effects of a fall. Mr. Merchant's associates in the office felt greatly relieved to see him at his post again, in his usual good humor.

Allen Reddy, formerly of St. Augustine but more recently of High Springs, where he has been employed as a machinist in the shops of the Atlantic Coast Line, has arrived in the city, and has accepted a similar position with the Gainesville Foundry and Machine Company.

Attention is called to the advertisement of Prof. Jules Eichelberger, piano tuner and repairer, which appears in this issue. Prof. Eichelberger has the advantage of thirty-two years' experience in his profession, and has enjoyed a remarkable success. He will attend promptly to all out-of-town orders.

After a pleasant visit of five weeks to the Jamestown Exposition, Norfolk, Richmond and other points in Virginia, Judge and Mrs. H. G. Mason have returned to their home in this city. Friends of Judge Mason will be pleased to learn that the trip has proved of great benefit to him, and he is looking a great deal better.

The Young People's Society of the First Presbyterian church held a Hallowe'en social at the home of Mrs. Dr. R. L. Robb Thursday night, which was well attended and highly enjoyed. The evening was passed most pleasantly among the young people, and the occasion will long be remembered as one of the most enjoyable of the year.

E. K. Rosborough of Windsor, for the past year or two representing the W. B. Johnson Company on the road, was in the city yesterday. Mr. Rosborough expects to begin work today with J. H. McLaurin, wholesale groceries and produce, succeeding Sam L. Dell. He is a very popular young man, and commands a fine trade throughout this section.

The cold storage plant of the Diamond Ice Company is ready for business and Manager Livingston expects a shipment of meat to Tarrora. This business has become so popular among the farmers, and has proved such a success, that larger and better quarters have now been provided, and the storage this year will be made at the new factory of the company on the Seaboard Air Line railroad tracks, at the foot of South Arredondo street.

Attention is directed to the change of advertisement of the Gainesville National Bank which appears elsewhere in this issue. The Gainesville National, which is one of the strongest financial institutions of its kind in the country, is managed upon a liberal but conservative basis, and is rapidly coming to the front in the financial world, notwithstanding that it is less than a half year old. Its officers are conservative men, well qualified and there is no wonder that the business is prospering.

G. A. Gordon of Savannah, junior member of the firm of W. W. Gordon & Co., cotton factors, Savannah, after a day spent here adjusting the losses in the fire of Tuesday, when the ginnery etc. of this company located here was burned, returned to his home yesterday. While Mr. Gordon stated that he was in no position to talk at this time, it is generally believed that the company will rebuild here, and may install a cotton-seed oil plant in addition to the ginnery. While here Mr. Gordon was a guest of Manager W. A. Collins, who has had charge of the Gordon interests here ever since that firm succeeded Dutton & Co.

TWO WOMEN UP FOR SELLING BOOZE

First Time in History of County That They Were Implicated.

SIX OFFENDERS WERE UP

Ross Woman Placed Under Bond of $1,000, Which She Gave—Others Waived Examination and Remanded to Jail to Await Grand Jury.

There was an interesting session of Justice Colman's court Thursday morning, when a sextette from the West End were arraigned upon a charge of selling liquor in a county which has voted against the sale of same.

What made the proceedings all the more interesting was the fact that two women figured in the case. It is a frequent occurrence to arraign a man for violation of this law in Alachua county, but this is the first instance recorded where a woman has been brought before the bar of justice charged with this greatest of all crimes of a civil nature.

The parties arraigned were the two women, Ireas Ross and Nancy Harris, John Bullock, Walter Harris, Steve Clayton and Louis Davis.

All parties were arrested at Newberry with the exception of Bullock, who was taken into custody at Trenton.

When the case was called the Ross woman waived examination and was placed under a bond of $1,000 for her appearance at the next session of the circuit court, which will be held this month. Steve Clayton, Walter and Nancy Harris, also waived examination and went to jail in default of bond, while the cases of Bullock and Davis were postponed until a later date.

A Hallowe'en Party.

The Epworth League of the First Methodist church gave a most delightful Hallowe'en party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hill, 208 East Church street, Thursday evening, which was largely attended, and it is needless to add, greatly enjoyed.

The evening was passed in a most enjoyable manner, and the occasion will long be remembered by those who were so fortunate as to be present.

This is Worth Remembering.

As no one is immune every person should remember that Foley's Kidney Cure will cure any case of kidney or bladder trouble that is not beyond the reach of medicine. J. W. McCollum & Co.

Special Service at Holy Trinity.

Today is All Saints Day, and there will accordingly be a celebration of the holy communion at Holy Trinity church this morning at 9 o'clock.

HAIR TELLS CHARACTER.

Color of Hair Said to Indicate a Person's Temperament.

Many people believe that blonde, or light hair denotes affection and dark hair constancy. A person without hair is not devoid of character, far from it. The disposition of the average baldheaded man is to show such solicitude for the welfare of others that he neglects himself. A germ causes baldness. Prof. Sabouraud, of Paris, France, inoculated a rabbit with Dandruff germs, causing it to become totally bald in five weeks' time. To rid the scalp of these dangerous germs it is necessary to apply Newbro's Herpicide.

LEGISLATURE CAN MAKE STATE DRY

John S. Beard Says Constitutional Amendment Is Not Necessary.

VERY STARTLING STATEMENT

Pensacola Lawyer Says That if Governor Calls a Special Session of the Legislature and Specifies Prohibition Town State Law Can be Enacted.

Hon. John S. Beard's construction of the State constitution is correct no constitutional amendment is necessary to enable the Legislature to pass a prohibition law and a majority of the Legislature, if they desire, can pass a law prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors in Florida. Mr. Beard's home paper, the Pensacola Journal is authority for the statement that in response to an inquiry of recent date, requested, carefully considered the question as to whether it was necessary to submit to the constitutional amendment in order to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors in Florida.

Mr. Beard's opinion is that the Legislature has full, ample and complete power to pass a prohibition law under the constitution as it now stands.

"The Legislature of a State, in creating the Department, delegates to it all the powers of legislative nature, subject to such restrictions as are contained in the State constitution and the Federal constitution.

"In order to determine if a State Legislature has the power to pass a law on a given subject, we look to the constitution to see if it is inhibited. If not inhibited the Legislature has the power.

"On the other hand, in order to determine if Congress has the power to legislate upon a given subject, we look to the Federal constitution to see if the power is delegated, and if not delegated Congress has not the power. The difference between the power of a State Legislature and the power of Congress is the difference between the powers of a legislative body created by a social compact and the powers of a legislative body created by a Federal compact.

Constitution Permits Legislation.

"The constitution of the State of Florida places no limitation or restriction upon the power of the Legislature to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors in the State. I take the wording and meaning of article 19 to be as follows, viz: That as the sale of intoxicating liquors is legal in the absence of state prohibition, article 19 allows any county upon complying with the conditions specified in the article to prohibit the sale of liquors in such county. Without article 19 there could be no local county prohibition with State prohibition. Article 19 is a law, or county, prohibition in the absence of State prohibition. It is in no way a limitation or restriction upon the power of the Legislature to establish State prohibition. Article 19 permits local prohibition in the absence of State prohibition, the converse is true.

Would Hold It Good.

"If the Legislature does not convene the regular or ordinary session, or does not specify State prohibition as one of the purposes for which the extra session is convened, or, if convened, it directs the attention of the Governor to this subject, and a State prohibition law is passed, and I am firmly convinced that the courts will hold the law, the question as to the constitutionality of such a law would not be raised.

"The Governor neither recommends State prohibition in his proclamation convening the Legislature nor does the proclamation of the Legislature convened, then the question is not taken up, except by the members of each house. So to a great extent, it depends upon the Governor whether the Legislature will consider the question at the extra session.

Would Take Effect.

"I am not only convinced that the courts would hold a State prohibition statute constitutional, but if, however, they held it unconstitutional, the Legislature, at the regular session in 1909, could propose the necessary amendment to the constitution.

"I will also say that a prohibition law, if passed, should not go into effect before October 1, 1908. Licenses have been taken out in the 'wet' counties for the year ending October 1, 1908, and it would be unfair and unjust to enforce the law before that date. But, of course, local prohibition, where now in force, would remain so until State prohibition goes into effect.

A Fine Dog.

Col. I. E. Webster, who is a great fancier of dogs, is happy over the receipt of a fine English Coach pup, six months old, from a friend in Vermont. The parents of this pup were awarded the first prize at the Vermont Valley Fair, Brattleboro, in September of the present year, and were admired by the thousands of dog-fanciers who attended this fair. Col. Webster is naturally proud of his new possession.

COMFORTING WORDS

Many a Florida Household Will Find Them So.

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed; to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. To tell how this great change can be brought about will prove comforting words to hundreds of Florida readers.

A. Oerting, seaman, of 419 L. street, Pensacola, Fla., tells how to do it. He says: "From my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills I can strongly recommend them to anyone in need of a good medicine for the kidneys. Kidney complaint and backache caused me suffering at intervals for years. The first or second attack I did not mind, but as time went by they grew worse and at times laid me up. I could hardly walk and it was a difficult matter to straighten up after stooping, while the kidney secretions were irregular and unnatural. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me. From personal experience I know that this remedy can be depended upon to fulfill the representations made for it."

STOP WOMAN AND CONSIDER

First, that almost every operation in our hospitals, performed upon women, becomes necessary because of neglect of such symptoms as Backache, Irregularities, Displacements, Pain in the Side, Dragging Sensations, Dizziness and Sleeplessness.

Second, that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, has cured more cases of female ills than any other one medicine known. It regulates, strengthens and restores women's health and is invaluable in preparing women for child-birth and during the period of Change of Life.

Third, the great volume of unsolicited and grateful testimonials on file at the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., many of which are from time to time being published by special permission, give absolute evidence of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

For more than 30 years has been curing Female Complaints, such as Dragging Sensations, Weak Back, Falling and Displacements, Inflammation and Ulceration, and Organic Diseases, and it dissolves and expels Tumors at an early stage.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice. She is the Mrs. Pinkham who has been advising sick women free of charge for more than twenty years, and before that she assisted her mother-in-law, Lydia E. Pinkham in advising. Thus she is especially well qualified to guide sick women back to health. Write today, don't wait until too late.

SPANISH WAR VETS TO MEET.

Convention Will Be Held Some Time In November.

Macon, Ga., Oct. 31.—A convention of the United Spanish War Veterans will be held in Macon about the middle of November, the exact date not having yet been decided on. While the organization is very strong in the east and west, it has never attained any great strength in Georgia.

Delegates from camps at Augusta, Savannah, Atlanta and other places will be in attendance and Department Commander Chas. W. Parker, of Elberton, Ga., hopes to have a large attendance of comrades from all over the state. Arrangements will be made for special rates at the hotels, and the comrades from Macon will doubtless do their best to give all visitors a good time. Announcement of the exact date will be made in the near furure.

HELD NOT GUILTY.

McMahon Acquitted at Chattanooga of Accepting Bribe.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Oct. 31.—Thomas H. McMahon, ex-alderman, was acquitted of the charge of accepting a bribe of $250 from S. W. Divine some six years ago. The verdict was ordered by Judge McReynolds, without the jury retiring.

As soon as the verdict was announced there was a ripple of applause sent up from the crowded courtroom, which was promptly quelled by Judge McReynolds, who brought down his gavel with admonition that there must be no such demonstration in his court.

The court held that the giver of a bribe is an accomplice, and therefore there could be no conviction on his unsupported testimony.

GADSDEN GOES DRY.

Etowah County, Ala., Gives Majority Against Saloons.

Gadsden, Ala., Oct. 31.—Etowah county and Gadsden went overwhelmingly for prohibition. The estimated vote of the county is two thousand, of which number prohibition got sixteen hundred. The big fight was centered in Gadsden, and hundreds of women and children, as in Birmingham, participated. The campaign was enthusiastic until the very end.

Of four hundred and sixteen votes polled in Gadsden, the wets were able to get but one hundred and thirty-nine. In Attalla two hundred and twenty-five votes were cast in favor of prohibition.

Illustrious Alabamans.

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 31.—The movement of Selma to secure the erection of monuments to the late Senators Morgan and Pettus has met with approval at the capitol. Men who have long taken pride in the work of the two old warriors are going to give Selma a helping hand to erect these bronzes that will not only be a credit to the state, but a fitting expression of the love in which they are held by the people of the state. The question will form a part of the business of the reunion of confederate veterans and sons to be held here in November.

ITCHING PIMPLES TORMENT 5 BOYS

Arms and Hands Affected—Could Not Sleep Because of Itching—Suffered for Two Months Until Two Cakes of Cuticura Soap and

ONE BOX OF CUTICURA CURED THEM ALL

"I have five boys, from five to eleven years of age, who were affected some time last winter by some kind of skin disease. The worst parts of the body were around the arms and hands, where small pimples formed and itched. They suffered for two months so that they could not sleep at night. I noticed an advertisement about the Cuticura Remedies and we made a trial of one or two cakes of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment which gave great satisfaction. I washed their bodies with Cuticura Soap and then applied Cuticura Ointment every other day. Since then they have all been healthy. A. E. Carlson, Norcross, Travers Co., Minn., Nov. 26 and Dec. 23, 1906."

WORST ECZEMA

Baffled Medical Treatment For a Year, Cured by Cuticura.

"About four years ago I was afflicted with black splotches all over my face and a few on my body, which produced a severe itching irritation, and which caused me a great deal of suffering. I was forced to call in two of the leading physicians of ——. After a thorough examination of the dreaded complaint they announced it to be skin eczema in its worst form. They treated me for a year, but their treatment did me no good. Finally I became despondent and decided to discontinue their services. My husband purchased a complete set of Cuticura Remedies, which entirely stopped the breaking out. I continued the use of the Cuticura Remedies for six months, and after that every splotch was entirely gone and the affected parts left as clear as ever. I have not felt a symptom of the eczema for three years. Mrs. Lizzie E. Sledge, 540 Jones Ave., Selma, Ala., Oct. 28, '05."

WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENCE.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—The return of the President to Washington is the signal for many of the cookoo Republican statesmen to show up at the National Capital and receive instructions how to thwart the reactionaries on the impending factional fight when Congress meets. As both sides are adepts in strategy and the distribution of spoils, there will be much pulling and hauling before the average Republican Congressman dares to take sides. On the one hand will be the President with his postoffice, Internal Revenue officers and other appointments, and all the vast powers for coercion that the chief executive of the United States possesses. On the other hand will be the Speaker of the House of Representatives, who not only appoints the committees, but has power to hinder or hasten any bill, and sole power to accord recognition to those only who it suits him to. Added to the power of the Speaker is the distribution of the House offices to be filled, some hundreds of them, mostly with large salaries and but little labor to perform. Nor is this all for the Republican Congressional Committee is the official holder of the "dough bag" and can distribute or withhold to candidates the contributions of the corporations and protected monopolies that are so necessary for use in the close Congressional districts. With the Presidency and all the spoils of office and the enormous accumulation fund of the party at stake, the fight will be bitter and prolonged. It must not be understood that those Republican statesmen will openly fly at each others' throats—far from it. On the lines of things they will be most suave and polite and "the gentleman from New York" will appear anxious and willing to serve his friend "the gentleman from Iowa," while secretly cussing him as a traitor to the party and its principles. Such is the present outlook for the G. O. P.

The [illegible] in Wall Street was foreshadowed in this correspondence some [illegible] it is to be hoped that [illegible] suffered. The whole [illegible] of watered stocks [illegible] speculators has been [illegible] Republican legislation [illegible] the trusts and the lack [illegible] to protect the people. [illegible] security in Wall Street [illegible] covering the rotten [illegible] have prevailed. With- [illegible] deposits of nearly [illegible] National banks would [illegible] snatched months ago [illegible] money is being [illegible] rathole to try [illegible] distress. Money [illegible] cent on October [illegible] even at high fig- [illegible] accommodations [illegible] Many legitimate [illegible] thus compelled to [illegible] and lines of de- [illegible] their own money [illegible] companies which [illegible] the hands of mere [illegible] Republican administration has been boosting this rotten [illegible] of affairs for fear that a [illegible] would hurt the party. Now [illegible] trouble has come, the Secretary [illegible] of the Treasury posts over to New [illegible] and is in conference with the [illegible] Street bankers and expresses himself as prepared to go to any length to assist them. At the same time the President is declaring that he stands firm for the exposure and punishment of evil-doers, while Mr. Cortelyou is dickering with the frenzied financiers.

With the panic on their hands and general business depression impending, and the factional fight in the ranks of the Republicans comes the Democratic opportunity to obtain control of the Government. But there is also a fly in the Democratic ointment that may prevent success. Unless the party can agree upon a candidate who will receive the cordial support of the discordant elements that has defeated it in the past, it will again be unsuccessful. The result of the Presidential election depends upon the vote of three or four doubtful States, such as New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Rhode Island and Delaware, and it is essential that the ticket must be satisfactory to Democrats and independent voters of those and perhaps other States.

Who can best unite the party, and be the most available candidate? is the question that Democrats must settle when electing delegates to represent them at the National convention. However strong Mr. Bryan may be, can he get those doubtful votes and is he the most available candidate to carry those close and doubtful States? No Democrat can desire a repetition of the last campaign, when thousands of Democratic voters who would have voted for Mr. Bryan, refused to vote for Judge Parker, or voted directly for Roosevelt. If Mr. Bryan is nominated can he expect to receive the united Democratic support?

Wisdom would suggest a compromise candidate as the most available under the circumstances—a candidate who has not been prominently connected with either factor and who having supported Mr. Bryan in his campaign, also supported Judge Parker. There are a number of such men in the party who eminently fill the necessary requirements of honesty and ability; any one of them no real Democrat can refuse to vote for.

Fortunately the Democrats are not divided on essentials. The Democracy is a unit on tariff reform and opposition to protecting the trusts, while it believes in home rule and State rights, and is opposed to stretching the constitution. Therefore there should be no conflict on a platform that all Democrats can agree upon as the doctrines of the party. With an available candidate it certainly looks to be the opportunity of the Democrats to wipe out their misfortunes of the past twelve years and redeem the country from existing evils.

ROBERT MILLER.

One declares that an evil tongue has a certain amount of influence, but, mind you, only with certain persons. People of liberal views never permit another to influence their opinions. A scathing tongue is barbed wire, and it cuts and slashes its victim unmercifully. If a person has the forbearance to overlook the cruel thrust, to hide their time, there seems to be a special dispensation from some unseen source which smoothes out this tangled network of falsehood and gossip, and leaves the victim unscathed. Not a trace remains of the deep wounds once deliberately inflicted.

This is, for most stores, the years "Decisive" month. It "makes" or mars the annual balance sheet. And it is the supreme test of the stores advertising campaign—upon the effectiveness of which all else depends.

To rely upon "location" or "luck" in building up a store is like relying for an income upon "finding" money, or even "winning" money, instead of working for it.

Capt. Joe Beach of Tyler was greeting his many friends here Tuesday last.

Miss Jessie Barrs, one of Alachua's excellent teachers, has resumed duty at Cannon school this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Martin of Jennings Lake were visiting their son, C. C. Martin, and shopping here yesterday.

Zem Thomas attended the organization of the Woodmen of the World at Trenton Friday night and reports a pleasant time.

Bell is progressing—the English sparrows are lodging here.

We want to ask for information—if it is not described in the statutes of the State of Florida for the Circuit Judge, County Clerk and Sheriff to draw jury out of jury box to serve the incoming term of court, instead of the County Clerk, Sheriff and Justice of the Peace in District No. 7, as was stated in your valuable paper some time ago?

Eiffel Tower Used for Wireless.

Paris, Oct. 31.—In addition to being used as a wireless telegraph station, the Eiffel tower is now equipped as a luminous clock. The apparatus is fixed to the second story and flashes forth every minute in huge figures visible at a great distance. This system was found to be the only one practicable for at such a height the ordinary clock dial would be indistinguishable.

In the course of a week I noticed the piles began to disappear and at the end of six weeks they did not trouble me at all. Cascarets have done wonders for me. I am entirely cured and feel like a new man." George Bryder, Napoleon, O.

MOORS AS THEY MEET

Their Quaint Customs and Queer Modes of Salutation.

DIGNITY AND GRACE ABOUND

Elaborate Social Courtesies That Are Exchanged In Everyday Life—Embraces and Kisses—The Etiquette of Sneezes and Yawns.

In contrast to some northern nations it is hardly too much to say that the Moor, of whatever class, is born a gentleman. There is such a grace about the humblest, such an easy dignity, that whenever circumstances place them in positions calling for the exercise of courtesy they very seldom fail to respond, and thus it comes to pass that in a democratic nation, in which every man of white-coming perhaps would be the legal word—may also be the highest place, even though he start life as a slave, the self proclaiming parvenu is practically nonexistent. This is not, however, to imply that gaucherie and the pleasant manners which come from evil disposition or stupidity are unknown. Unfortunately the life led by the average Moor is one that dwarfs refinement of intellect, as it does development of mind, and the class to which the majority succumb in early life too often stultify the most prominent commencement.

It is a pretty sight to see two elderly, dignified Moors salute. With measured pace, the eyes of each fixed on those of the other, they approach with a slight inclination, holding the right hands slightly advanced. They press their finger tips together and begin a volley of prescribed salutations, greetings and inquiries, hardly pausing to insert replies and ejaculate "God be praised!" Then each presses the finger tips which have been honored by contact with those of his friend against his lips and then upon his heart as he raises his head and redoubles his salutations.

To every fellow Moslem the greeting is given, "Es-salam alaikum" ("Peace be unto you"), to which the answer is, "Wa alal kumes-salam" ("And to you be peace"). To the unbeliever the nearest approach to this permitted is "Ala salam tak" ("On thy peace"), which might mean anything. The way to speed the parting guest is to exclaim, "God give thee peace," or, more curtly, "In peace." To those whose presence has never been desired it is usual to exclaim in tones full lently explicit, "Allah ihafa-ak!" ("God protect thee!") On arrival it is customary to exclaim to the guest, "Welcome to thee!" or "Marhabban, ahlan wa sahlan" ("Be welcome, at home and at ease"). Courteous interrogatories fall thick and fast. "How art thou? Thy house?" The nearest approach permitted to inquiry after a man's wife. "Thy relations? What news? Is nothing wrong?" To which he replies, if there is nothing specially to complain of: "All right, thank God. All are in prosperity." Or, if bad news has to be given: "God knows. Everything is in the hand of God."

When a Moslem meets a European accompanied by a Moor, though the latter be the servant, he not infrequently ignores the presence of the foreigner and offers the salutation to his coreligionist only, but if he passes a mixed company of Moors and Jews or Christians he exclaims, "Peace be on the people of Islam". If two such parties meet on the road the phrase is, "Peace be to those accompanying the Jews," or "the Nazarenes," and it is sufficient for one of each party to give and return the greeting, though in the country several often do so. Inferiors saluting superiors usually kiss the hand, shoulder, top of the turban or feet or the knee or stirrup of a horseman, according to the terms on which they approach. The more abject forms are naturally only used to implore a favor, though they are employed sometimes to Europeans. In the extremity of supplication the very feet on one's horse are embraced.

The old custom of falling on one another's necks is still in vogue between friends long separated. Men and women restrict their greetings in public to words, but personally I was somewhat startled by the sudden entrance of a negress whose freedom my father had been the means of obtaining when returning to the country after some years' absence. The kisses on such occasions are however, forgotten as delivered in the air over the shoulder.

Several little social usages of Moorish life deserve attention, though not confined to Morocco, such as the exclamation to one who sneezes, "God forgive you!" to which he responds, "God forgive thee!" and praise to God. If a man yawns in public he must make the prescribed formula and the bystander by him may place the back of his hand to his mouth, uttering a prayer against the devil is accredited with performing an unpleasant operation in yawning mouths. On the other hand, any one wearing a new garment or looking specially spruce or having performed some clever or meritorious act receives the compliment, "Bi sahhit-ak" ("In thy strength").

A Moor knows how to enjoy a good joke to the full, and, seated on the floor, he bends backward and forward without restraint in his laughter. Often the teller of the story will join in the process too. Raising their right hands far above their heads as they roll back, they bring them together in a hearty clap. There never was a genuine case of enjoying a joke interrupted. Silence when laughs give vent to their feelings by a shrill "Yoo, yoo, yoo, yoo, yoo, yoo"—Pall Mall Gazette.

THE PREY OF A GRIZZLY.

Bruin Was Robbed of a Good Meal.

In the early days of California grizzly bears were numerous and troublesome, as they are not now, and every hunter had a number of exciting encounters with them. The story is told of Mr. Sweet, who was one of the pioneers in the first days of the gold excitement. Mr. Sweet was one day walking in the woods when he came upon a grizzly bear and two cubs. He was unarmed, and he knew he had little to expect after the first shock of action the bear was quite likely to make. He struck him down, but he lived to give chase of mind and his powerful claws.

The grizzly stood over him for a while or more, then seized him by the waistband and began dragging him along. He did not resist, and she dragged him for a dozen rods to a little sandy hollow, where she dropped him and began digging a hole in the sand. Into this hole she rooted the man, and then nosed and pawed the sand over him until he was buried from sight. The prudent animal, not being hungry at the moment, was making a cache of her prey.

Mr. Sweet's heart lightened as he realized the brutes intentions, and he began to hope that he might escape. He waited a few minutes after the bear had covered him in, and then, thinking that she had retired from the scene, he began to work himself free very cautiously. The grizzly was on the watch, however, and at the first movement of her prey rushed to the spot and with two or three strokes of her paw snugly tucked him in again.

Mr. Sweet instantly became motionless again and allowed himself to be reburied in the sand. Luckily his hat had slipped over his face, so that the sand did not fill his nose and eyes, and by raising his head a little he was able to throw off the sand sufficiently to breathe.

He was more wary next time and lay still for an hour or two until he felt pretty sure that the grizzly had retired from the spot. Very cautiously then he worked himself free from the sand and crept away.

Twisting a Rabbit.

The wretched rabbit is first driven into a hollow log or tree or hole, as the case may be. Then the twister cuts and trims a supple gad of suitable length, inserts it into the retreat and pokes about till he feels the rabbit. The gad is then withdrawn, and it's ten to one that a hair or two clinging to the end will prove that the rabbit has been touched. The twister now makes a split in the end of the gad, feels for the prey again, and when the split is in the fur turns the gad steadily in one direction till a firm hold has been taken of the fur. The rabbit is then dragged out and dispatched, if everything works just right. Too frequently things go wrong. A rabbit's skin is very tender, and a rough handed twister may twist off inches of skin and wads of fur before he thinks that he has secured a proper hold. Not seldom the agonized rabbit resists so strongly that the skin is torn off during the pulling process. The whole business savors too much of flaying a beast alive to be worthy of further discussion.

But in one instance the rabbit did not suffer. A clever youth found a hole under a stump and decided to twist the hidden rabbit. The stick took hold in excellent style; the rabbit struggled bravely, but a powerful pull brought it forth with a bounce. It was a very copious rabbit—in fact, the only one on record which wore a long bushy tail and a black and white coat, and, judging by the color of it, it must have been in that hole a very long time.—Outing.

HOW BONNER WON SUCCESS

The career of Robert Bonner, the veteran publisher, furnishes a signal illustration of the value of persistent and sagacious advertising. When he began the publication of the paper whose phenomenal success brought him fame and fortune, he did not wait for the people to find out, slowly and gradually, the interesting features of his journal.

He forced his enterprise upon public attention by a systematic lavishness of expenditure for advertising which at that time was without precedent or parallel. Whole pages of daily newspapers were secured at high prices to blazon forth the merits of his undertaking.

From one end of the country to the other the names of Bonner and his Ledger were made familiar to the people by constant repetition.

Conservative publishers, jogging along in the ruts of old routine, prophesied bankruptcy and ruin for this unconventional innovator, but Bonner kept on spending a large share of his receipts in buying publicity, and those receipts increased with startling rapidity.

Every dollar disbursed in this way brought in more dollars until creators were confounded and pessimists in this particular branch of business silenced by his tremendous success.

The lesson is one that is as well worth heeding today as it was forty years ago.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

WAR VETERANS TO MEET.

Reunion of Society of the Army of the Tennessee.

Cincinnati, Oct. 31.—Announcement was made Wednesday that the thirty-seventh reunion of the society of the Army of the Tennessee, whose executive committee is located here, is to be held Nov. 7-8 at Vicksburg, Miss. The meeting at the southern city is upon invitation of the people of Vicksburg represented by the city authorities, the commercial organizations and the survivor sof the confederate and federal armies residing at this place.

Governor Vardaman and Mayor Griffith will welcome the visitors. Major General Fred D. Grant will speak on "The Vicksburg Campaign."

An address will also be made by Lieutenant General Stephen D. Lee, commander in chief of the United Confederate Veterans.

Heavy Fine For Hazers.

Kewanee, Ill., Oct. 31.—For hazing Charles Stoner, a student at a Bradford school, five young men of Bradford must pay $14,000 damages, according to a verdict brought in on Monday night by a jury. The defendants are William Real, Earl Lappin, Arley Harwood, Earl Howe, and Pamels Long. They are said to have tied Stoner to a tombstone in a cemetery. Stoner was so severely frightened that in his attempts to get free he pulled the tombstone over on himself, breaking a bone in his leg. He was confined in a hospital, a nervous wreck, for several weeks.

London's Water Supply.

It has been calculated that if a cistern covering 850 acres and 345 feet high could be constructed and the water supply of London for one year turned into it the warships of all the world's navies could ride at anchor there. If we now dig a canal 100 feet wide across Europe, says Tit-Bits, from the extreme north to the south, and empty our cistern into it, we shall find that the water in our canal, which is 2,485 miles long, will rise to a uniform height of ten feet. Every drop of it is consumed by the inhabitants of greater London within a year, while each man, woman and child living today throughout the world could draw 250 gallons from it without exhausting its contents. The mains through which these hundreds of millions of tons of water flow for the use of London are almost long enough to stretch a quarter of the way around the earth at the equator, while it would take a locomotive traveling at the rate of sixty miles an hour more than four days and nights to race from one end of them to the other.

An Astute Astronomer.

Cassini, an Italian by birth, was the first director of the astronomers of the Paris observatory, when founded by Louis XIV., and in consequence possessed the confidence of that monarch, who generally expressed his wishes to him in person. What he failed to learn from the want of astute penetration of the courtiers, he found out by his own observations. Thus he discovered that the monarch was subject to fits of abstraction, during which he would remain for hours together in the same position, and without uttering a word. Cassini, through the window of the king's cabinet, which looked into the garden, observed that when his majesty was in this state he would walk with a measured pace backwards and forwards in a straight line, and that the number of his turns was always the same. Cassini noted down the number of turns which the king took during the fits, and when his majesty next appeared in the garden the astronomer was able to inform him how long he had been in a state of abstraction.

Cured of Bright's Disease.

Mr. Albert O. Burke, Elroy, N. Y., writes: "Before I started to use Foley Kidney Cure I had to get up from ten to twenty times a night, was all bloated up with dropsy, and my weight was 240 pounds. I had to have one of my family in the room. I had given up hope when a friend recommended Foley Kidney Cure. One 50-cent bottle worked wonders and before I had used the third bottle the dropsy had left me as well as all other symptoms of kidney disease. J. W. McCollum.

OUR STAPLE FOODS.

It is Astonishing How Comparatively Few They Are.

Certain great food staples have proved themselves within the age long experience of humanity to possess a larger amount of nutritive value, digestibility and other good qualities and a smaller proportion of undesirable properties than any others. These, through an exceedingly slow and gradual process of the survival of the fittest, have come to form the staples of food in common use by the human race all over the world. It is really astonishing how comparatively few there are of them when we come to consider them broadly—the flesh and the milk of three or four domesticated animals, the flesh of three or four and the eggs of one species of domesticated birds, three great grains, wheat, rice and maize, and a half dozen smaller and much less frequent ones, a hundred or so species of fishes and shellfish, two sugars, a dozen or so starch containing roots and tubers, only two of which, the potato and the manioc are of real international importance, twenty or thirty fruits, forty or fifty vegetables make up two thirds of the food supply of the inhabitants of the world.

Instead of wondering at the variety and profuseness of the human food supply the biologist is rather inclined to ejaculate with the London fishmonger immortalized by John Leech, who, when told by the cook that there would be mutton chops for dinner and roast beef for supper, exclaimed: "Nothink but beef, mutton and pork—pork, mutton and beef! Fish my opinions, let's 'ave fish once now instead was we wanted."—McClure's.

BULLS AND PUNS.

A Batch of Mixed Sayings and Clever Sallies.

It is said to charge Lord Dunraven with a "bull" in speaking in parliament in favor of the Irish peasant's right to kill game, "Why, gentlemen, these people have to live," he said, and laughter drowned the remainder of the sentence.

"Can't I suppose you were with Adam and Eve in the garden of Eden?" asked the Lemons playfully.

"I was a third person then," replied Dr. Emmons, "and I differ in some

Always Was Sick.

When a man says he always was sick—troubled with a cough that lasted all winter—what would you think if he should say he never was sick since using Ballard's Horehound Syrup? Such a man exists. Mr. J. C. Clark, Denver, Colorado, writes: "For years I was troubled with a severe cough that would last all winter. This cough left me in a miserable condition. I tried Ballard's Horehound Syrup and have not had a sick day since. That's what it did for me." Sold by W. M. Johnson.

HAMLET'S TOMB.

The Memorial at Elsinore Is a Standing Joke.

The English pressmen traveling in Denmark have been taken to Elsinore. They looked in vain for its "wild and stormy steep," as for the battlement where a famous ghost appeared. It is not that these poetic scenes have vanished. They never were extant. On the other hand, says the Pall Mall Gazette, our confreres saw the tomb of Hamlet. This must have consoled them unless they were so injudicious as to ask questions, and for most it had the charm of surprise also. That Hamlet was buried under a cross of stone in the public garden of Marienlyst ranks among things not generally known. But there's no doubt about it for guileless persons who believe the evidence of their own eyes. If the cross is broken and the inscription nearly effaced, those effects of age go to prove its authenticity, if proof can be needed. The record of the year also is lost, but we still trace the day of the month, Oct. 22, which harmonizes with the well known eccentricity of the deceased in a very pleasing manner.

Some worthy souls, Danish as English, indignantly protest against this standing joke, perpetrated or at least sanctioned by the municipal authorities. But the wise know that the vulgar person loves to be deceived, and in charity they conclude deciphatur. No harm comes of the jest and some easy laughter. Hans Andersen, who told so many fables, left an account of this. He went to school at Elsinore in the twenties and thirties of the last century. The precious tomb had not been invented or thought of then. But at this period the famous sound dues were collected, and every vessel had to stop at Elsinore. They were British mostly, and skippers, passengers, even cities, says Hans Andersen, pestered the inhabitants with questions about Hamlet, prince of Denmark. There was and is a small barrow in the garden of a handsome villa just outside the town. Some humorist told the inquiring Britons that this was Hamlet's grave. They streamed thither daily, and the householder, a merchant, dared not be rude to his best customers. But the persecution became unbearable, and at length he conceived the happy thought of setting up a real tomb, with an epitaph, on a bit of waste land in the neighborhood. The diversion answered perfectly. Afterward this waste land was included in the public garden of Marienlyst.

A Hard Snot.

Among the stories told of Dr. Emmons, a well known clergyman of a former day and generation, there are many which show his keen wit. In the town where he was pastor there lived a physician who was a pantheist and took pains to let every one know it. He had made frequent boast that he could easily conquer Dr. Emmons in argument, and one day came his chance. He and the doctor met at the house of a sick man.

"How old are you, sir?" asked the physician frequently.

"Eighty-two," replied Dr. Emmons quietly, although his eyes showed his surprise. "May I ask your age in turn?"

"Five hundred since the creation in one form or another," said the physician readily.

"Ah, then I suppose you were with Adam and Eve in the garden of Eden?" asked the Lemons placidly.

"I was a third person then," replied the physician, "and I differ in some

THE STUPID RHINOCEROS.

Relies Principally on His Wonderful Sense of Smell.

He is a stupid beast—this rhino—apparently not using his sight to any great extent, but relying on a wonderful sense of smell and a very disturbing ability to hear. Once he strikes a scent that is irritating to his temper or hears a sound that dissatisfies him he takes an instant to decide the direction, and then putting down his huge ugly head so that his big horn is ready for business he charges at the top of his speed in a perfectly straight line, making a terrible rumpus over it. You only have to jump a few feet to one side or the other, and he will go tearing by and keep on going until he is tired. I let one go by because conditions did not admit of my stopping him and then climbed a little tree and followed him with a field glass as he tore along in a cloud of dust for over two miles.

Another time one of the men gave a grunt, spoke the one word "kifaru" and pointed to a black spot half a mile away which under the glass turned out to be one of the strange, cumbersome beasts we were looking for. He showed a very good front horn, and the boys both agreed that he was a reasonably good "man."

It was only a few moments when we could hear the rhino moving toward us dead to windward and sniffing about in his own peculiar and rather appalling fashion. Suddenly he came directly into the burned patch perhaps a hundred yards away. The first thing that I noticed now was there were six or seven brown birds perched in a row on his back. These signal birds, sometimes white, sometimes brown, sit on their big companion's spine and relieve him of superfluous ticks. So long as they sit there he knows that there is no danger, and sits on in peace and quiet. The instant they fly off, as they do on the slightest warning, up comes his big head, and he lets out a series of snorts of affright, causing his followers to scurry for the direction of the danger, for danger there is, he knows.

On came the beast in a zigzag line until he was not over fifty yards away. Then the birds caught sight of me and flew off. Up came the big head, and the fun began. All was ready except that he was too directly head on for me to get a shot below the ear, which was what I wanted.

First he turned into the long grass and we lost sight of him. I moved in to the long grass, there taking care to keep always to leeward. In a moment I would see the top of his back about twenty yards off, and I covered the place where his head ought to be with the rifle. Then I got what seemed to be the best sight I might have, especially as twenty yards was about as close as personal comfort and ease of mind allowed, and I fired.

He was the first very large animal I had killed, and my first sensation was one of blank astonishment that one bullet could put him out of business so suddenly and so completely. As a matter of fact he simply sank down in the grass and was dead before he was fairly stretched on the ground.

The instinctive run at him at once, being careful to approach him from behind, and grabbing his tail, climbed up its length to [illegible] and screaming like madmen we went [illegible] and [illegible] to [illegible] and [illegible]. The [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]
